HALF MILLION MINERS OUT

President Orders Coal Mines Operation By Government

President To Take Coal Strike Issue To People Sunday Night

By JACK VINCENT
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, May 1.—President Roosevelt will take the coal strike issue to the people of the United States in a nationwide radio broadcast Sunday night, the White House announced today.

The chief executive will "speak bluntly" on "the need of coal to win the war," Presidential Secretary Stephen T. Early said. Early emphasized that Mr. Roosevelt's address will be "very important."

This was the only announcement from the White House as the 10 o'clock deadline passed for more than 540,000 striking coal miners to return to their jobs.

The president had told John L. Lewis, president of the miners union, that if coal was not coming from the pits by 10 o'clock Saturday morning he would "use all the power vested in me as president and as commander-in-chief of the Army and Navy to protect the national interest" and to keep the miners at work.

The president earlier conferred with his closest advisers.

He remained in his personal study at the White House and after the conference, Robert Sherwood, playwright and author, who collaborates with Mr. Roosevelt on his public statements and speeches, remained behind, presumably aiding him in preparing the radio speech for tomorrow.

No Conference Indicatjons

Meanwhile there were indications that there would be conferences during the day with Lewis.

There were reports from New York that he hurriedly had left his hotel there and there was much speculation that he was on his way to Washington and very likely would come to the White House.

A conference between Lewis and Mr. Roosevelt was the only prospect of a quick settlement or truce in the industry crippling walkout of the nation's hard and soft coal miners.

Risking immediate declaration of martial law and use of army troops, Lewis, without so much as raising his voice, let the strike ocur in defiance of an ultimatum by President Roosevelt that all mines must be operating at 10 o'clock this morning.

Scrap Collection Appears Light

Predicted Small Yield Of Scrap Due To Donations To Previous Drives

Indications at noon were that the collection of scrap in New Castle would be light. This can be accounted for in a large measure by the fact that most citizens had their scrap cleaned out in the two previous drives.

At 8 o'clock this morning men and trucks gathered at the Pennsylvania Power company yard along the Neshannock Creek between Mill and Jefferson streets. In a short time the trucks had been started out with each having a map showing the district in which they would operate.

Rev. J. Calvin Rose was in charge of the collection as city chairman and with him was a large corps of volunteer workers. Trucks were donated by trucking companies and by business firms of the city.

Two more car loads of tin cans were shipped today to the detinning plant at Neville Island, making a total of eight carloads which have been shipped. Through the cooperation of City Councilman D. O. Davies and Garbage Superintendent Howard Phillips the cans were picked up at the various schools and hauled to the Pennsylvania railroad station.

BOMB MORE AXIS SUPPLY SHIPS ON WAY TO TUNISIA

International News Service

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN NORTH AFRICA, May 1.—American bombers have smashed new Axis attempts to bring supplies and reinforcements to their hard-pressed forces in northern Tunisia, headquarters revealed today.

Mitchell bombers have sunk two destroyers and three other vessels and left a light cruiser blazing a spokesman said, while at least three other ships were hit directly.

Flight Sergt. A. B. Downing, of Surrey, England, flying a Beaufighter one a lone patrol over the Mediterranean, encountered five Junkers 52 air transports and shot them all down in ten minutes of furious action, headquarters disclosed. The enemy planes were flying north to Sardinia.

This was the largest single bag of planes ever accounted for by one pilot in this campaign.

Both the tactical and strategic air forces received credit for sinking one destroyer each in the Cape Bon area, with the latter also scoring direct hits on the bow, amidships, and on the stern of a light cruiser.

Tactical force fliers sank an E-boat and an F-boat which is a tank carrying vessel and registered hits on a merchantman about 150 feet in length.

WOMAN PAINTS HOUSE

Lawrence county's latest figure is $7,326,000 with 16,584 subscriptions. Lawrence and Beaver county seem to be in line for honor pennants for subscribing 150 per cent of their quotas.

Harbor Of Messina Is Again Bombed

(International News Service)

LONDON, May 1—American Liberator bombers yesterday raided the harbor of Messina in daylight, the U. S. Army Air Force revealed today in a Cairo communique.

Bursts from heavy calibre bombs caused a tremendous explosion and large fires near the port's power station and other hits were observed on ferry terminal installations, the communique reported.

The bombers were attacked by enemy fighters, several of which were shot down.

Messina, an important port and air base on the Island of Sicily, is of added importance to the Axis because of Allied invasion plans.

Yanks Capture Key Hill 609 In Tunisia Battle

By PIERRE J. HUSS
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, In North Africa, May 1.—One of the most formidable Axis strongholds guarding Mateur fell into Allied hands today as American artillery was reported shelling Mateur itself and Allied planes took a terrific toll of enemy shipping and aircraft north of Tunisia.

The key hill known as 609 was seized by American forces in the course of a swift attack which wilted picked units of German air-borne troops.

Capture of Djebel Tahent, as Hill 609 appears on non-military maps, was the greatest surprise defeat Adolf Hitler's troops have as yet suffered at American hands and demonstrated strikingly American ability to best the Nazis man for man in the bitterest sort of close-in, bared bayonet fighting.

Yanks Celebrate

The victory at Hill 609, so called because this is its exact height in meters, gave the Americans occasion for a real May Day celebration. The mountain is a miniature Pike's Peak, affording a beautiful panoramic view of the entire Mateur region.

Its steep slopes were expertly fortified by the Germans in recent days and was especially manned and reinforced by crack troops flown in by air under orders to hold it at all costs.

They tried to but failed and either scrambled to temporary safety or surrendered to the Americans.

The capture of Djebel Tahent hammered a dangerous wedge into the Axis defense system protecting Von Arnim's savagely battling army east of Medjez-El-Bab. The thrust undoubtedly caught him off guard and compelled him to draw on his slender reserves to strengthen his

R. A. F. Renews Bomb Raids On Essen, Home Of Nazi Armament Works

THIRTEEN BOMBERS ARE LOST IN RAID
(International News Service)

LONDON, May 1.—Essen, bomb-shattered home of the large German Krupp armaments works, was heavily bombed by the Royal Air Force during the night in attacks on war production centers in the industrial Ruhr valley, the air ministry announced today.

The communique announcing the raid said 13 British bombers failed to return to their bases. The bombardment was the second against the Reich in three days.

Last previous attack on Essen was made April 3 when 900 tons of bombs were dropped in a concentrated raid.

The attack last night was on a similar scale although the bombing was more widespread. The weather was said to have been "not so favorable".

The raid was the 55th of the war against Essen. It was presumed that both two-ton and four-ton block-busters were employed by the R. A. F.

Loss of 13 bombers last night brings the total R. A. F. bomber losses since Jan. 1 to 597. They lost 241 in April as compared with 153 in April of last year. The sharp rise in losses was expected and is not regarded with alarm.

All around percentage losses of bombers are not much higher than

MOSCOW, May 1—The Red army, on the offensive again in the west Caucasus, today occupied several former Nazi strongholds on the approaches to the Black Sea naval base of Novorossisk.

Russian artillery, tank and infantry forces were given strong support by Soviet aircraft in the renewed drive which cost the Germans heavily in men and material.

In one aerial foray Soviet Stormovik dive-bombers destroyed several dozen German guns and also wiped out more than a battalion of Nazis.

Carnegie Hero Awards Made

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, May 1—Two West Virginia miners were listed today among the 17 heroes and heroines honored by the Carnegie Hero Fund Commission at its spring meeting here. Both were awarded the prized Carnegie hero medal, one posthumously, and cash benefits.

The recipients were Guy E. Quinn of Morgantown, W. Va., who died at the age of 42 in a gas-filled coal mine at Pursglove, W. Va., last January 8, and Bradford Gainer, 32, a mine motorman whose home is at Pursglove.

Quinn's widow will receive death benefits of $65 a month from the the commission, while Gainer was given a cash award of $500.

Quinn and Gainer voluntarily entered the gas-filled mine to warn 11 others deeper in the shaft.

None of the spring winners was from Pennsylvania.

Japan Enthuses Over Coal Strike

(International News Service)

TOKYO, May 1.—(By Official Japanese Wireless)—The influential Nippon Times today pointed to the American coal strike as a sign of disunity within the United States and said such actions would be "inconceivable in Japan".

The paper asserted that should the strike develop, steel companies will be forced to curtail war production within two weeks.

EXPECT TO REACH QUOTA
(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, May 1—Last minute computations promised today to send Allegheny county "over the top" in the second war loan drive. To last night, the drive had netted $229,000,000. They expressed confidence that late tallies would more than make up the last $60,000,000.

When the offer came she had just heard that a friend had been killed in the Solomons and decided the war job was "more important than anything else." (International)

Bond Sales Here Now $7,250,000

Lawrence County Two Million Over Quota; Exact Total Still Unaviable

No exact totals were possible today in the second war loan campaign which is closing in Lawrence county, but it appeared there was about $7,250,000 subscribed in Lawrence county, which is two million dollars over the quota of $5,250,000.

Bond subscriptions have been pouring into the Greater New Castle Association office all day and no effort was made to get a total due to the press of accounting. It is doubtful that an exact total will be possible even on Monday due to the fact that the bank quotas are subject to some adjustment due to a cutting down of the amount of bonds permitted banks.

No matter the total today, the fact remains that the bond campaign here is mounting to new heights by the minute. The estimate set yesterday of 150 per cent of the quota seems to be possible of achievement.

Secretary Ickes Is Directed To Take Over Coal Mines

Secretary Of War Also Directed To Provide Troop Protection To Mines And Miners Who Want To Work—Action Comes Soon After 10 O'clock Deadline On Strike

By JACK VINCENT
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, May 1.—President Roosevelt today directed Secretary of Interior Ickes to take over and operate coal mines which have been struck or are threatened with a strike and directed the secretary of war to provide troop protection for mines and miners who want to work.

Acting two hours after his 10 o'clock deadline had passed, the president instructed Ickes to "make employment available and provide protection to all employes desiring work..."

Mr. Roosevelt's action came in an executive order in which the secretary of war was instructed upon the direction of Ickes "to take such action, if any, as he may deem necessary or desirable to provide protection to all such persons and mines."

Ickes, who is solid fuels director, was instructed to take over and operate the mines, together with "any and all real and personal property, franchise, rights, facilities funds and other assets" used in the mining of coal. He was instructed to "operate or arrange for operation" of mines which have struck or are threatened with work stoppages.

Ickes Ordered To Get Coal

President Roosevelt, in his executive order, did not differentiate between the soft and hard coal mines, and it was apparent that his executive order was directed to both divisions of the industry.

Ickes was instructed to "do all things necessary" in order to obtain the production, sale and distribution of coal.

He was ordered to make use of any "public or private instrumentalities as he may designate" in order to continue the adequate production of coal for the prosecution of the war.

Ickes was further directed by the president's executive order to "make employment available and provide protection to all employes desiring to work at such mines and to all persons seeking employment so far as may be needed."

The action was taken by President Roosevelt to assure the production of coal in the face of the most crippling industrial strike since the outbreak of war came shortly after the White House had announced that he would take the government's case against John L. Lewis' coal miners to the nation in a radio broadcast at 10 o'clock EWT tomorrow night.

Grave Peril To Nation

In his appeal to the strikers to go back to the pits, the president solemnly warned that "the national interest is in grave peril."

"The production of coal must and shall continue," Mr. Roosevelt asserted, in his statement which came a few minutes after ordering government seizure of the mines.

Ickes, who as fuel administrator is charged with the direction of both soft and hard coal mining for war, was ordered by President Roosevelt to operate the mines and "make employment available and provide protection to all employes resuming work ...and to all persons

Commissioner Of Martinique Given Chance

By KINSBURY SMITH
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, May 1 — The United States government today is giving Georges Robert, high commissioner of the French Caribbean Islands of Martinique and Guadalupe, a final chance to stop stalling and help the United Nations liberate France.

This is understood to be the meaning behind the American government's action in abrogating all existing agreements with Admiral Robert and withdrawing recognition of him as high commissioner of the French West Indies.

No Use Of Force

This government has no immediate intention of resorting to the use of military or naval force to compel Admiral Robert to join the Allied cause. However, a virtual economic blockade is being imposed on the two islands under his control.

American food shipments to the island were suspended last November and now this government has cancelled the agreements which permitted Admiral Robert to sail his merchant ships through Caribbean waters.

Local food production is believed to be sufficient to prevent starva-

Mass U-Boat Attacks Are Reported By Gen. MacArthur In Pacific

By JOSEPH A. BORS
(U. P. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, May 1.—America and the United Nations moved with renewed vigor today to combat the submarine menace in both the Atlantic and Pacific as reports from Australia indicated a shift in Japanese strategy through the use of mass U-boat attacks to cut the allies' supply lines.

A communique from Gen. Douglas MacArthur's headquarters stated dramatically that "the enemy has launched a submarine attack in some force in the waters east of Australia."

While details of counter-measures being taken in the southwest Pacific were not revealed, Canada and Great Britain announced a new plan for smashing the Nazi U-boat menace in north Atlantic waters.

Canada and Britain disclosed that they have jointly assumed charge of all trade convoys from northwestern Atlantic ports to the United Kingdom and will provide an unprecedented "aerial umbrella" over the entire route.

The new unified command is part of a concerted move by the United States, Britain and Canada to consolidate and augment anti-submarine operations in the north Pacific. The new setup will operate under Rear Admiral L. W. Murray of the Royal Canadian navy in a post of "commander-in-chief, Canadian northwest Atlantic".

Under the plan new long-range Canadian bombers and American planes will patrol to "somewhere in mid-Atlantic" whence British bombers will take over in safeguarding convoys over the north Atlantic route.

A radical change in Japanese submarine tactics was indicated by the fact that MacArthur's announcement came only a few hours after Secretary of Navy Knox said the Nipponese undersea craft were used mainly for combatant purposes.

ing of the northern Donets river. The majority were wiped out but a few succeeded in swimming back to the right bank, the nigh command said at noon.

Soviet airmen in this area of the front bombed German communications lines, railway stations and military trains. Direct hits resulted in violent explosions.

Red army artillery on the central front blasted Nazi defense works. Snipers operating in the area were revealed to have slain some 1,000 Germans during the past month.

Report 200 Nazis Slain

On the Leningrad front an additional 200 Germans were said to have been slain.

The week-long artillery duels between Soviet guns and German batteries west of Rostov continued unabated. The Soviet high command said that its guns had destroyed six Nazi blockhouses and pillboxes. Soviet scouts in the region west of Rostov also captured five German trenches and killed 50 Nazis.

The high command reported an unsuccessful German attempt to carry out a reconnaissance sortie south of Balakleya on the Donets river front below Kharkov.

Soviet reconnaissance units on the other hand penetrated into German lines on the central front west of Moscow and were said to have wiped out several dozen of the enemy.

In a surprise attack by Soviet forces armed with tommy guns several German blockhouses were seized on the Volkhov front below Leningrad.

A supplement to the midnight communique said that a Soviet warship had sunk a German transport in the Black Sea.

for the same period in 1942 in view of the proportionately higher numbers of planes employed and the great increase in mine laying operations. The bomb loads carried this year are three times heavier than at the beginning of 1942.

The Nazis admitted damage to buildings. The usual cry was sent up that casualties were inflicted on civilians. The Germans claimed five of the British raiders were shot down.

The R. A. F. last assaulted Germany Wednesday night when the North Sea naval base of Wilhelmshaven, center of U-boat production, was blasted while British planes carried out one of the largest mine-laying operations in Nazi controlled waters, particularly the Baltic. This attack by the British was accompanied by a Soviet air force assault on the east Prussian capital of Koenigsberg.

seeking employment so far as they may be needed."

The executive order empowered Ickes to call upon Secretary of War Stimson to take "such action, if any, as he may deem necessary or desirable to provide protection to all such persons and mines."

Ickes was ordered by the president to maintain customary working conditions in the mines and continue customary procedure for the adjustment of workers' grievances.

He specifically was instructed to "recognize the right of the workers to continue their membership in any labor organization, to bargain collectively through representatives of their own choosing, and to engage in concerted activities for the purpose of collective bargaining... provided that such concerted activities do not interfere with the operations of the mines."

Will Return Mines

The chief executive directed Ickes to return the mines to private ownership as soon as he determines that possession and operation by the government is no longer required for the furtherance of the war program.

In his formal statement, President Roosevelt reviews his action in sending a telegram to John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers, establishing the 10 a. m., EWT deadline today for the miners to voluntarily go back to work.

The president said:

"I appeal to the miners to resume work immediately, and to submit their case to the National War Labor Board for final determination."

"Except in a few mines, the production of coal has virtually ceased. The national interest is in grave peril..."

"I now call upon all miners who may have abandoned their work to return immediately to the mines and work for their government. Their country needs their services as much as those of the members of the armed forces. I am confident that they do not wish to retard the war effort; that they are as patriotic as any other Americans; and that they will promptly answer this call to perform this essential war service."

American action in abrogating all agreements with Robert was prompted by his refusal to cooperate in helping liberate his own country from the Germans, and by the fact that he has been playing both sides in the world conflict.

Health Talks

By DR. W. A. WOMER
City Health Superintendent

DANIEL BOONE

Daniel Boone killed his enemies by shooting at them. We kill our friends by coughing at them.

When Dan sneezed, the chipmunks and pineys scurried away. There was no one else near enough to get his cold from him.

Nowadays it is different. Buses and stores and movies and schools and churches and restaurants are full of people. A lot of people may be exposed to a sneeze.

We would do well to get the handkerchief habit. When we feel a cough or a sneeze coming on we should cover our face, I. protecting ourselves we protect others. By protecting others we protect ourselves.

Public sentiment can accomplish wonders. In our town a person with a cough may be more dangerous than smallpox.

Public sentiment says "Beware of a Cold."

"A person with a cold should keep away fro i other people."

Hot biscuits are entirely American, says a writer. While many urban dwellers who settled in America had been accustomed to buying all bread from bakeries, New World homes had to be self-sufficient, so hot biscuits were devised. They may, however, trace their origin to the Scotch scone, but the latter were baked on a griddle.

The term "Garrison finish" comes from the methods of Edward H. ("Snapper") Garrison, a famous jockey, who retired in 1897. His favorite trick was to trail the others in the early stages of a race and then win on the home stretch by a sudden burst of speed.

Deaths of the Day

J. S. R. Sharp

A former resident of New Wilmington, J. S. R. Sharp, aged 64, of 524 Center street, East Pittsburgh, died suddenly Friday at noon.

Mr. Sharp, who was born in New Bedford on March 10, 1879, a son of Henderson G. and Elizabeth Smith Sharp, resided in New Wilmington until he went to East Pittsburgh to work at the Westinghouse Electrical Manufacturing Co. about 42 years ago. He would have retired from Westinghouse next year.

Survivors are his wife, Belle Ravy Sharp; one son, Dale Sharp, of East Pittsburgh; one sister, Miss Nettie Sharp, of New Wilmington, and three brothers, R. L. Sharp, of Fairchance, Pa., J. Smith Sharp, of Sharon, and Elmer E. Sharp, of New Wilmington.

Funeral services are to be conducted Tuesday morning at the residence, in East Pittsburgh. Interment will be made at East McKeesport.

Pallbearers were Grover Gearhart, Lyle Reese, Charles Simpson, Wilson McClenahan, G. W. Cameron and George Lostetter.

Interment was in Evergreen cemetery, New Bedford.

450,000 soft coal miners and some 90,000 workers in the anthracite pits expired at midnight, and the UMW "boss" permitted the general walkout to go on because coal operators had refused to sign new contracts. This was in line with the historic UMW policy of "no contract—no work."

Beginning of the general strike was no surprise. During the past week, more than 100,000 miners began "silent strikes" in four states to back up Lewis' demands for a $2-a-day wage increase. When no new contracts were signed by the time the old ones expired at midnight, the number of mine workers who walked out increased by leaps and bounds.

It was apparent even at that hour that a general strike was on!

YANKS CAPTURE KEY HILL 609 IN TUNISIA BATTLE

forces against the American onslaught.

Nazis Vulnerable

The Yanks' fighting spirit soared tremendously with the capture of the hill and it may be said that the Stars and Stripes waving atop Hill 609 comprise symbolic proof that Adolf Hitler's strongest defense points are vulnerable. That the Nazis in Tunisia are fully aware of the significance of their loss is indicated in the vigor of their bombings and counter-attacks."

One slight withdrawal was made by allied forward troops, but in other sectors steady advances continued and three new important localities were wrested from the Germans.

Violent attacks were carried out by allied planes against enemy shipping off the Tunisian coast. At least one enemy destroyer was sunk and another set on fire, while many other vessels were hit.

Editor's Note: An Exchange Telegraph dispatch to London reported five Axis vessels, including two destroyers, sunk in the Sicilian straits, while a cruiser was hit and set afire.)

Air Force Takes Toll

Five Junkers-52 transports were destroyed by a lone Beaufighter while on patrols, Eisenhower revealed. The Beaufighter encountered the traansports and immediately attacked, sending the big troop carriers down one by one.

Wellington bombers of the strategic air force attacked enemy airfields in Tunisia and started large fires, the statement declared.

The allied air operations were on an increased scale, Eisenhower said. Mitchell medium bombers of the strategic air force scored several direct hits on a destroyer, which was left burning, while other medium bombers sank a destroyer and hit a merchant vessel.

The tactical air force also made concentrated raids on enemy shipping, while bombers and fighters of the desert air force scored hits on a merchantman and attacked a corvette, another cargo vessel and a number of smaller ships. Eight enemy planes were shot down. Seven allied planes failed to return from all of the day's operations.

Troops of the French Corps D'Afrique, operating at the extreme north of the battleline, advanced to the west shore of Lake Achkel, 17 miles west of Bizerte, then retired a few miles to establish strong positions at the Djebel Kef Touro to the northwest.

An American column of the United States second army corps simultaneously pushed forward through the Sedjenane valley to within three miles of the southwest shore of Lake Achkel.

Large Industries Pay City Taxes

Large local industry has paid its 1943 city taxes, according to C. C. McKibben, city treasurer. Local industry always has made it a practice to make payments during April. One firm, the Pennsylvania Engineering company paid $2,402.28 in March. Other payments follow:

Standard Steel Spring company, $1,200; Defense Plant corporation, $35,640; Aluminum company, $21,894.84 and the Shenango Pottery, $2,402.28.

Kohn Shows Relics Taken In Pacific

An interesting display of war souvenirs brought back from Guadalcanal and Tulagi by Lieut. (j.g.) Arthur Kohn of Park avenue, who has just returned from action in that section, is now being exhibited in the window of Jack Gerson, jeweler, a veteran of World War One.

A number of pictures showing battle scenes in that area, and captured equipment taken from dead and captured Japanese soldiers and officers is included in the display.

Among the articles shown are a number of medals, coins, Japanese currency of the regular type and that printed for use after invading various territories; signal flag from a sunken Japanese cruiser, and many other interesting mementos of the conflict.

HELEN MUIR IS BRIDE OF STERLING E. McKEE

An impressive wedding ceremony marked by simplicity took place in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel B. Muir, 135 Englewood avenue, when their daughter, Helen D. Muir, became the bride of Sterling E. McKee, son of Mrs. Hilda McKee of Fairview avenue, Bessemer, Pa.

The living room was beautifully decorated with an abundance of flowers, and a solid arrangement of white gladioli and tea roses embanked the fireplace, providing a colorful background for the bridal party. Vows were exchanged in the presence of immediate familes at 4 o'clock, with Dr. J. J. McIlvaine, pastor of the Presbyterian church, officiating. He used the single ring service.

To strains of music played by Mrs. Kenneth Auerbach of Buffalo, N. Y., the bride entered on the arm of her father, who gave her in marriage. She was attired in a poudre blue street length crepe afternoon dress, and her shoulder corsage was of gardenias and tea roses. Miss Margaret Ann Muir, as her sister's maid of honor and only attendant, chose a street length dress of pink crepe and her shoulder bouquet was entirely of tea roses.

Russell Forney served the bridegroom as best man.

Following a congratulatory period, a wedding supper was served at 7 o'clock in The Castleton to the wedding party and immediate families of the couple. The all white theme predominated in the appointments throughout.

Later, Mr and Mrs. McKee left on a trip and will return here after May 10. They will take up residence for the present on Fairview avenue, Bessemer.

The bride is employed in the offices of the Refractories of New Castle, and the bridegroom is associated with the Youngstown Sheet & Tube company in Youngstown.

Present from out-of-town were two sisters of the bride, Mrs. Auerbach and her daughters, Mary Lou and Joan Mae, and Mrs. Paul Gealy of Buffalo, N. Y., and an aunt, Mrs. Thomas McKee of Aliquippa.

VILEST MONSTERS ON EARTH

WIDESPREAD barbarism of the Japanese, exemplified by the execution of captured American fliers, has been given sickening emphasis. Chiang Kai-shek has disclosed that Japanese troops systematically exterminated Chinese men, women and children by the thousands in coastal areas where other American pilots landed after the Tokio raid last year.

It was the horror of Lidice repeated many-fold. This unparalleled slaughter of innocent people stamps the militarists of Tokio as the vilest monsters in the Axis array.

But it may also be included with much other evidence of insane Japanese fear of greater and more disastrous bombings of their islands that are to come in all likelihood from China.

The Japs have been feverishly busy constructing huge air fields of their own inside China to meet the avenging American attacks which General Arnold promises shall be delivered eventually around the clock, until their war machine is demolished. Within the last few days Japanese broadcasts not intended for foreign ears have been heard warning the people to expect the early return of American bombers.

The evil heart of Japan has been horribly revealed on that execution field at Tokio and in those hapless Chinese villages. It is the heart of a coward. Not for vengeance but our own preservation fleets of huge American bombers must carry home to Japan, again and again—and the sooner the better—shattering punishment for the misdeeds of its leaders.

TRADE PACTS ARE TREATIES

While hearings of the House Ways and Means committee on the renewal of the reciprocal trade acts are still being held, some Republicans in Congress have let it be known that they will consider favorably a compromise method of making tariff treaties.

Indeed, one member of the committee itself, Representative Roy O. Woodruff, has asserted that he thought Congress would approve the renewal of the act if Congress were permitted to pass upon all agreements made.

Though these agreements are commonly called reciprocal trade pacts, they are essentially foreign treaties made by the United States government with the governments of other countries. Under the act as it now operates, the state department negotiates these treaties and may raise or cut any United States tariff duty as much as 50 per cent or freeze commodities on the free list for the duration of the treaty.

But the Senate receives none of the treaties for ratification. When Congress granted the right to the President to make such treaties the Senate surrendered its constitutional power to ratify foreign treaties.

The American public, made aware again by wartime conditions of the fair-weather character of foreign treaties, might be induced to accept the reciprocal trade principle were the Senate once more to be granted power to ratify all pacts hereafter made under the act now at issue.

GRUDGING RECOGNITION

Under the new income tax bill approved by the House Ways and Means committee majority, the payment of personal income taxes on a current basis would be achieved at the end of three years. The process would bear heavily on many persons and would not accord with the popular conception of the pay-as-you-go principle.

The Democratic majority's bill provides, along with a 20 per cent withholding tax effective July 1, that the balance of 1942 taxes, figured on the basis of 1941 rates, shall be paid in installments ending March 15, 1946. Use of 1941 rates will mean "forgiveness" of 1942 taxes to the extent of about 40 per cent. As a practical matter it means a partial doubling of the taxpayer's liability, since he will pay in each of the next three years one-third of his '42 taxes.

In short, the bill is grudging recognition of the pay-as-you-go principle. To that extent, but to that extent only, it is an improvement over the majority's original measure which the administration leaders in the House hastily moved to have recommitted after the Rumi plan was turned down by the narrow margin of 17 votes. It will be recalled that Chairman Doughton thereupon declared resentfully that pay-as-you-go was dead so far as the committee was concerned.

So, perhaps, the new bill is the most that could be expected from the committee majority. But the fight for a pay-as-you-go plan, consummated this year, not three years hence, will be vigorously continued on the floor of the House and later, if necessary, in the Senate.

GASTRONOMIC DELIGHT

Food rationing in the United States seems to be settling into a groove, with fewer complaints than formerly and fewer shortages cropping up from day to day. Almost everything that is edible can now be obtained in the larger food markets—that is, by the housewife who has the points and the money. In shopping for the choicer items a plentiful supply of both is required.

Americans have always made a specialty of food. Those who have permitted themselves to fall into the delusion that good eating was a recent development are in grievous error. Styles in food and cooking have undergone an evolutionary change through the years, but neither in quality nor quantity has the culinary art improved since pioneer days.

A statement so sweeping should not be made unless the proof is at hand to back it up. The authority is none other than Victor Murdock, who writes in the Wichita Eagle:

"Additional evidence that Wichitans were weary of game is found in a dinner menu put out by the Douglas Avenue House August 4, 1872. It includes no wild flesh or fowl. It was: Soup—mock turtle descaline; boiled, ham, corned beef, tongue; roast, rib of beef, sirloin of beef, rib of veal, pork; relishes, Worcestershire sauce; cheese, French mustard; cucumbers, tomato catsup, cucumber pickles, chowchow, radishes, cole slaw; entries, chicken pie, baked ham spiced with champagne sauce, tripe a la creole, beef a la mode, calf's liver braized with onions; vegetables, mashed potatoes, boiled potatoes, green corn, stewed squash, cabbage, stewed tomatoes; pastry and pudding, strawberry pie, peach pie, steam suet pudding with wine sauce, lemon pie; dessert, fruit cake, marble cake, muskmelon, pecans, ice cream, soda cake, Yankee doughnuts, watermelon, gold cake, almonds and raisins, silver cake. Coffee. English breakfast tea.

This leaves no doubt that Kansas pioneers, at least, had food available in both quantity and variety to satiate the appetite of gourmand and gourmet.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

AVOID TROUBLE WITH CHILD'S EATING HABITS

Here are some suggestions which might help the mother prevent some eating pdroblems in her child and correct some such problems after they have developed.

1. It is always well to consult your doctor.

2. The mother who is calm and can control her own emotions will have the best results in helping her child enjoy food. Children lose mothers have no nerves do not reveal eating problems.

3. Remember that the child does the eating and enjoys eating when he wants to eat. Children, like horses, eat when they are hungry.

4. When you begin presenting solid foods to the baby, present one food at a time and a very small amount of it. Remove the food the moment he turns his head or closes his mouth against it.

5. Show no concern over the child's eating. No one else in the family should.

6. Always let the child choose—between what you offer him and nothing.

Learning to Tolerate Foods

7. As soon as your child can feed himself with his bare hands, let him do so. There is nothing like self-feeding to cultivate an appetite. When the child feeds himself he takes no more than he wants. He never pushes food into himself when he doesn't want it. Don't worry about the mess; just protect him and the floor. Keep your attention on right values.

8. Expect your child over five or six to eat some of every food served the family, provided all the adults of the family do likewise. Let him serve himself as little of any food as he likes or tell you how much he wants. Any child or adult can learn to tolerate, even enjoy, any food by eating a very small bit of it at a time and continuing to do so.

9. Unless your child has a proper appetite for all foods offered him, let him have no food between meals, especially sweets.

10. In case a tot has a scene over eating, present a small portion of a most essential food on a plate before him, with nothing else, not even water. Walk away. Return after about five minutes. If he has not begun to eat it then, remove the food, saying not a word, and end the meal there, making sure he can get no other food before the next regular meal time. Should he eat the food offered, present a

One Man's Opinion

By WALTER KIERNAN
INS Staff Writer

The state department has sent out a little round robin to all its employees asking "are you having any fun?"

The way things have been piling up on the poor people it's about time somebody looked into the fun situation.

What with trying to placate two or three kinds of French, keep Spain on the fence, look the other way when the Poles and the Russians exchange insults, tune in for fireside chats and broadcasts from London, there has been little time for jollity in the department.

Things have been getting so dull that some of the indispensable young men have been thinking of surrendering to their draft boards.

It is to be hoped that in the near future Cordell Hull can give a weekly clambake or maybe Sumner Welles will promote a square dance.

If that can't be arranged they might get in some famous traveler to tell how she is saving gasoline by riding Pullmans.

Thought for the day: What kind of a war is this if you can't have fun?

ADVICE TO NEW GARDENERS

If you've never had a garden, but are starting one today,
Let an old-time fellow tell you what he's learned along the way:
You must keep for late September the desire of early May.

To begin is very easy. When the catalogues appear
The pictured flowers are pretty and the skies above are clear,
And little there informs you of the heartaches you must fear.

But a garden asks for patience and persistence and for pluck
And a constant state of warfare against foes which chew and suck,
And you'll reap no fruit or blossom if you leave it all to luck.

The weeds are quick in growing and they thrive upon neglect
One must brave the sun all summer to keep slug and beetle checked.
The gardener who turns lazy soon will find his garden wrecked.

Let an old-time fellow tell it:
You must work from day to day.
To the glory of a garden there exists no easy way.
You must carry through September the devotion shown in May.

Said the surgeon: "Eve was made from Adam's rib, and that surely was a surgical operation!"

"Maybe," said the architect, "but prior to that order was created out of chaos, and that was an architectural job."

"But," interrupted the bureaucrat, proudly: "Somebody must have created the chaos!"

Theories require elaborate explanations. Facts are usually obvious.

A Coast Guardsman who had just completed his training was assigned to sea duty and was making his first trip.

Standing in the aft part of the ship with another trainee, he was admiring a graceful sea gull as it hovered, swooped, and dipped to recover some scraps of food that had been thrown from the galley.

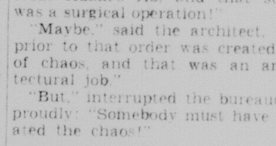

"What a beautiful pigeon," exclaimed the first CG.

"That's a gull", said the more experienced CG.

"I don't care—gull or boy,—it's a pretty pigeon!"

MILITARY TITLES ON CARDS

"I am a captain in the army. Should I have my military title placed on my calling cards?"—John Q.

Answer: A military officer like a clergyman should have his title engraved on his personal cards—as Captain John Smith. But if you are a reserve officer, you should not keep your title on your cards after the war. Military and naval titles should be used only by officers in active service or by retired regulars.

Technically, officers below the grade of captain in the army or commander in the navy are written to by their titles but spoken to by their superior officers as "Mr." But in the social world this rule has been outgrown and the wives, sisters and sweethearts of lieutenants, lieutenant commanders, ensigns and midshipmen are now introducing them by their titles and names. I think the women and girls are responsible for this change of rule.

In their hearts that soft place reserved for titles and uniforms grows softer and softer as the years go by. Did you ever note how trolley conductors and motormen get more than their share of smiles and call eyes from the gentler sex and how the mounted policeman's horse always has a wealth of feminine admirers? So, my boy, use your title on your cards inasmuch as you are a commissioned officer. But until the world becomes even more democratized Mrs. Grundy will continue to frown on such privileges for non-coms.

Question: All of my friends know me as Patsy, although my full name is Patricia. Might I correctly use my nickname on my visiting cards instead of Patricia?—Patsy.

Answer: No. Never use a nickname on a visiting card. Your real and full name must be used to be in good taste.

Looking At Life

By ERICH BRANDEIS

Josef M. Jahoda, candy merchant of Kankakee, Ill., is mad.

All his life his mail was addressed to "Miss Jahoda" and he didn't mind it.

But recently the WAACS, the WAVES and the SPARS have been sending him circulars and letters asking him to enlist.

But when a woman recruiting officer came to his place to interview him and accused him of posing as a male, then he got mad.

He sent her a copy of his birth certificate, and there was the answer. He read:

"Josef Jahoda. Born, Meb. 6, 1912. Sex—Female."

He wrote to the county clerk asking that his birth record be changed to show that he was a male.

But he was notified that "once a record has been filed, no changes or corrections of such a record may be made."

So, officially, Mr Jahoda is a girl, whether he likes it or not.

And so, once a record has been established, it is a darn tough task to live it down.

Make one mistake and that mistake may stick to you all your life.

You may be an honest fellow for years.

Then in a weak moment you steal 50 cents from Bill Jones. Bill, being a mean cuss, has you arrested and you serve two days in jail.

From that time on you'll be known as "the jailbird who stole that dough from Bill Jones."

I know of a lovely, dignified woman of 50. She has four children and is active in charity and war work.

Thirty years ago she worked in the Follies for one season.

And still, today all her friends call her the Ziegfeld chorus girl.

It's something like an inkspot on a white table cloth. A little bit of a thing but it stands out like a mountain in a desert. And it's the hardest thing to wash out. You have to rub and rub, and finally it goes away.

There's poor Mr. Jahoda—hasn't done a thing to be ashamed of, yet he has to suffer for a mistake made by someone else.

Every day we live our record continues. Let us remember that "no changes or corrections can be made".

The World and the Mud Puddles

NOT FOR PROPAGANDA.

The Office of War Information is supposed to have been established in order to give out information which was helpful to the Armed Forces of this nation and not helpful to the enemy. It was not established for the purpose of giving, for instance, the right of Mr. Elmer Davis, the director in charge to the Bureau, to criticise the Rubber Administrator, Mr. Jeffers. The only purpose of the Bureau was to give to the Press news which would not be harmful in any way to the war efforts of this nation.

Now Mr. Jeffers says that the OWI has not been giving the facts on the rubber situation, but that it has created a distrust in the program and that its so-called factual stories are based upon figures long since out of date. Mr. Jeffers is unquestionably the person best qualified to speak on the rubber situation. He is known to be a man whose efficiency is rather foreign to most of the other governmental Bureaus and the public does have confidence in the Rubber Administrator.

There also has developed a feeling in many quarters, both in and out of the government, that the office of the OWI has been used, either willingly or unwittingly, as a medium of political propaganda, the immediate objective of which is to re-elect this administration to a fourth term. This has been vigorously denied by Elmer Davis, but the fact remains that a vast amount of money is being spent in an elaborately printed magazine for foreign distribution. Naturally, foreigners are not voters, but it is not beyond the realm of possibility for such sentiment to be built up that, at the proper time, some of our Allied leaders will make an "appeal" to the American people, cleverly worded, of course, for the retention of Mr Roosevelt in office.

It is hoped that the interested members of Congress will put the finger on these various charges and either prove or disprove them. If we are maintaining, at tremendous expense, a propaganda office for the perpetuation of the administration, then now is the time to know about it. If we are not and if the reports of the OWI are completely factual and without political coloring, then that, too, should be revealed. Little of the controversial material is circulated in this country. But the people who are paying for it are entitled to know what it is, just the same.

That Buried Report

WASHINGTON, May 1. LINKING OUR shocking shipping losses through enemy submarines with the general question of manpower, the Truman committee called the other day for "a scientific determination of the number of men who can be usefully employed in the armed services." And Senator Ferguson, of Michigan, expressed the hope that in view of the shipping bottleneck the whole manpower problem would be studied with a "realistic approach."

WHAT IS THE matter with this committee, and what is the matter with Senator Ferguson? Why do they not make a "realistic approach" themselves? Do they not know that an extremely "realistic approach" to this vital problem was made by a group of men selected by the President more than two months ago and requested by him to make a study of the situation, reporting to him with recommendations? If the committee and Senator Ferguson want realism in this matter, all they have to do is to get Mr. Roosevelt to give them that report.

THERE WAS NO lack of realism in it. It was, in fact, so realistic that, as pointed out in this place some weeks ago, the President, resisting all suggestions that it be made public, apparently has buried it. The known facts about the report are these:

1. The committee making it was composed of James M. Byrnes, B. M. Baruch, Admiral W. D. Leahy, Harry Hopkins and Judge Samuel Rosenman.

2. It indicted the manner in which the manpower business had been handled and recommended changes which would have swept out Manpower Commissioner McNutt and Secretary of Agriculture Wickard.

3. The report was unanimous, signed by all five of the committee members.

NO ONE HAS seen it since it was delivered to the President early in March. All efforts to dig out its recommendations have failed. If the Truman committee is as concerned as it seems about the manpower situation, the sensible thing for it to do would be to ask the President to let it see this report. The reason he has given for failure to make it public is that it was not really a report but just "confidential memoranda." Certainly, members of the committee thought that it was a real report and, certainly, they had no idea it was to be regarded as more confidential than the Baruch committee report on rubber, the recommendations of which have been carried out and a very bad situation cleared up.

SO FAR AS the public was concerned and so far as the committee was concerned, the manpower muddle seemed to call for the same sort of study, the same sort of report, the same sort of recommendations, the same sort of publicity and the same sort of action. When the President first announced the committee those were the things expected of it. It seems certain that the committee delivered the goods. Considering the character of its members and the unanimity of the report, its suppression is not easy to defend. The people of the country are entitled to the truth about this manpower muddle and have a right to expect candor from the President about it.

THE ONLY PLAUSIBLE explanation for withholding the report is that if made public its "realism" might embarrass Mr. Roosevelt and injure the feelings of his aides. It does not seem a good reason. The result of its burial is that a situation, which two months ago seemed to the President himself bad enough to require drastic action, is still drifting without action. Though for six weeks he has now had proposals by which the mess might be cleared up, he has not moved a step—and keeps them out of sight. If the Truman committee could bring them to light (or even get a confidential view of them) it would not only satisfy its own desire for realism but would serve the national interests.

OF COURSE the chances are that even should the committee ask for the report now it would not get it. The President would simply repeat that what he has is confidential. There is no way for anyone to go back of that. What it amounts to is this—the President made public announcement of the appointment of a committee to investigate the whole manpower problem and report with recommendations. The committee did exactly that, but the President did not like the recommendations and has buried them. Soon the whole incident will be forgotten—though it shouldn't. Certainly, the cry of the Truman committee for a "realistic approach" indicates that it has forgotten.

Anniversary At Lutheran Church

Rev. A. M. Stump To Observe Nineteenth Anniversary On Sunday

On Sunday, the Rev. A. M. Stump, will observe the nineteenth anniversary of the present pastorate at St. Paul's Lutheran church, North Jefferson and Grant streets, having taken charge May 1, 1925.

During this period, 597 persons were received as new members by confirmation and letter of transfer; 361 children were baptized, thus adding 988 baptized members to the parish. He officiated at 228 funerals and 390 weddings. Until the beginning of this year, two morning services were conducted every Sunday morning besides evening and mid-week services, the latter during the Lenten seasons.

The church will celebrate the 95th anniversary this coming August, and for all these years has been locally known as the German Lutheran church, but all the services have been conducted in the English language.

Borden Class Has Silver Anniversary

Seventy Attend Observance Of Organization Of Class At First Methodist Church

Members of the George R. Borden class of the First Methodist church celebrated the silver anniversary of the organization of the class last night.

Held in the church, the affair was attended by 70 persons, a few invited guests being present, and several former members from a distance. Following a reception in the church parlors, the members retired to the dining room where a turkey dinner was enjoyed. The tables decorated in keeping with the occasion presented a very pretty picture. Spring flowers interspersed with novelties and unique place cards were used with large silver bells over the table and other novel methods used to carry out the silver anniversary setting.

Early in the year of 1918 the class first met with Mrs. George R. Borden as the teacher. At the time it was composed of six couples and three of these were present last night, Mr. and Mrs. Guy W. Battles, now of Springdale, Mr. and Mrs. Louis List now of Franklin, and Mr. and Mrs. C. Ed Brown of this city, with Mr. and Mrs. O. J. Sheaffer of this city who joined the class at its second meeting. Other organizers of the class were Mr. and Mrs. George R. Borden, now of Blaine, Wash., Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Steen, who are wintering in Florida, and Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. Dobbs.

An interesting program was carried out during the evening, Vennor Bright, chairman of the committee in charge, officiated as master of ceremonies.

During the evening, Mrs. Claire Brown and Mrs. O. J. Sheaffer conducted a "What do you remember" program, to which present and former members contributed. Rev. Burr R. McKnight spoke of the influence a class of this kind has had on the Sunday school and the church in general. He paid the class a tribute when he spoke of the loyalty it has demonstrated over the years and what its influence has been to the church. Remarks were also made by Mr. and Mrs. Battles, Mr. and Mrs. List, Mr. and Mrs. William Wagner, Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Nelson and others.

Pep singing under the leadership of Dave Rees contributed to the evening's enjoyment and a chorus of class members under his direction was most entertaining. DeLace Cole, president of the organization, was also most entertaining in his character sketches.

Bob Bishop of New Wilmington, second mate in the Merchant Marine service, who has visited 42 foreign lands during the time he has been in service, and who is home on a leave, was present and showed several reels of moving pictures of life in the Merchant Marine, some taken in Africa. Pictures of class activities were shown by Ralph Lengerman.

Interesting letters were read from F. E. McGill of Bellevue, West View; Mr. and Mrs. George R. Borden of Blaine, Wash.; J. A. Phelps of Akron, O.; Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Steen of St. Petersburg, Fla.; Leslie Ellis of Jenkintown, Mr. and Mrs. William Herbst of Indianapolis, Ind., Mr. and Mrs. H. L. New Developments in Design
Construction and Financing

Meetings Start Soon—

NO ENROLLMENT FEE; NO DUES; JOIN NOW!

THE home you would like to build after the War! Will it have all the improvements being planned in design and construction? Will you avoid the pitfalls that families building homes often encounter? Will it be economically and soundly constructed?

You will be able to say "Yes" to all of these questions if you become a member of First Federal's new Post-War Home Building Club now!

And at the same time you will be in the favored position as a Club member of possibly being able to save in the cost of the home you will build through a unique plan of construction.

Through a series of meetings you will be fully informed about all of the things that should be considered in planning and building a home for your family's needs. Experts will present information about improvements and trends in home design, construction, heating, decoration, furnishing, location, landscaping, community planning, and financing. An idea-library will be available for your use.

As a Club member you will be preparing yourself financially to start building your home when the War ends by purchasing War Bonds regularly and or saving at First Federal, with financing on a rent-size monthly payment basis all pre-arranged. Stop in for a folder giving details. Plan to join this money-saving home building club now. Meetings will start soon!

Shenango High Puts On Comedy At School

Crowd Sees Junior Class Present "Improper Henry Propper" Friday Eve

Junior class of the Shenango high school presented the comedy, "Improper Henry Propper" Friday evening in the school auditorium to an audience which was large and enthusiastic and brought in to the box office its biggest 'take' for a school play.

An afternoon performance of the play was given for the school.

Members of the cast were: Robert Hay (Sid Hurd); Ida Ruth Hoover (Mrs. Hurd); Marcia Critchlow (Bonnie); Sylvia Moore (Mrs. Vandercoff); Wilma Booher (Billie Vandercoff); Felix Kulnis (Prince); Wilbert Gill (Henry Propper); Eleanor Parks (California); Eva Pavelcheck (Bertha); Bert DeAntonio (Mr. Quartz); Mervin Nagel (Gilliguddy).

Director of the play was Miss Bette Davis, assisted by Miss Mary Johnston, also of the Shenango faculty. Louis Phelps was stage manager.

After the play, the cast enjoyed a supper party at a suburban restaurant.

I. L. HARPER TO LEAVE B. AND O.

Local friends of I. L. Harper, who was located here as general foreman of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad shops for four years, prior to leaving for Cumberland, Md., as master mechanic in 1940, will be interested to know that Mr. Harper is still climbing the ladder toward success in the railroad world. He is leaving the Baltimore and Ohio company to become assistant superintendent of shops of the Lehigh Valley Railroad at Sayre, Pa.

Mr. Harper was given a testimonial dinner at Cumberland on April 29, which was attended by C. H. Cotton, of Garfield avenue, rules examiner of the Eastern Lines of the B. and O.

Sees Much Action Wins High Awards

CAPT. CLYDE S. UBER

Capt. Clyde S. Uber of 824 Lathrop street is at his New Castle home for a brief furlough from action on the northern African front. During his service in the ninth air force for many months on that war front, which included 310 combat hours and participation in the first air attack on Naples, he has seen a lot of air fighting. Capt. Uber has been awarded the Silver Star, Distinguished Flying Cross and Air Medal for his battle service.

Wolves Club "Over Top" In Bond Drive

Championship Bowling Games To Be Played Tuesday Evening, May 4

Wolves club members announced today that over $50,000 of war bonds have been purchased during the second war bond drive, thus going "over the top" in the bond totals.

The second war bond drive exceeded the expectations of the club and officers of the organization are well pleased that members have responded so enthusiastically.

Board meeting was held on Friday afternoon, and James Caravella was elected as a new member of the board.

It was also announced by the program chairman Carm Sacco, that the final three games to determine the bowling championship for the league will be played on Tuesday, May 4, at 9 o'clock at the usual bowling alley. Teams playing are St. Vincent's, with Fred DeCarbo as captain, and Dukes, with Elrick Scarazzo as captain.

McKibbin Attending School In Arizona

Edmund Donnan McKibbin Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. E. Don McKibbin of Park avenue, listed as delinquent by Local Board One, of New Castle, for failure to answer his summons to appear here for final examination for induction into the army, has been attending school in Tucson, Ariz., where he has been for the past eight months, it was stated today by the youth's parents.

He is attending the school of engineering and is not a draft delinquent, they state, as he is a member of the R.O.T.C. Basic Training class. He has been examined at Tucson for military service, they claim, and evidently some error has been made in transmission of the papers to him through the mail, as they state that the youth is only too willing to enter the service if he can pass his physical examination.

THE PARENT PROBLEM

small portion of another essential food, and so on.

The child who will drink little or no milk should be handled in the same way.

Serious Eating Problems

11. Some mothers would do well to refuse any food at all to the child who has been a serious eating problem, for two or three meals.

12. In case you use any sort of starving method, be sure to stick by your plans and not weaken. Should your youngster, after holding out for two or more successive meals, develop nausea, consult your doctor.

The foregoing items and others discuss far more at length in my special bulletin, "Eating Problems", to be had without cost by writing me at 235 East 45th Street, New York City, enclosing a self-addressed envelope with a three-cent stamp on it.

Solving Parent Problems

Q. What about the child from five to 12 who eats too fast and hurries off to play?

A. Say nothing about his eating fast. Tell him before he begins the meal that he may not leave the table till the end of 20 minutes or till the last person at the table has finished. If he must sit doing nothing he will figure out that he might as well use most of the time eating.

Q. Should a mother prepare extra food dishes for her 12 or 15-year-old child who does not care to eat the family meal already prepared?

A. No; unless he is ill.

Q. Don't you think it unfair to condemn parents generally whose early-teen-age children have got beyond their control?

A. I do, especially when some of the very writers who condemn these parents now used to warn these parents when their teen-age children were tots against restraining them.

Power Club Hears Newspaper Man

Ray Sprigle Speaks At Meeting Of Club Here Friday Night

Assignments to cover the blitz in England are exciting, and assignments to uncover the Ku Klux Klan activities of a justice of the United States supreme court are interesting, but a Schroeder-Dague murder case is the type of assignment he will take in preference, Ray Sprigle, noted Pittsburgh newspaperman, said Friday night before the Pennsylvania Power club. It was the monthly meeting of the club in the auditorium in the service building.

Mr. Sprigle spoke for more than an hour, but his address was so interesting that the men present would have listened to another hour had he cared to go on. His description of the bombing of London in August and September 1941 was a thrilling narrative. His description of how he was awarded the Pulitzer prize for his expose of a justice had both humor and interest. But it was in his description of the unfolding of the Schroeder-Dague case that brought out the best in his descriptive powers.

The meeting was in charge of President Dudley Arnold and Entertainment Chairman Thomas Flanagan. L. B. Round, vice president and general manager of the company, was a guest and spoke prior to Mr. Sprigle's appearance.

St. Mary's Sodality Meeting Conducted

Sodality Planning Hike On Sunday, May 23, For First Outing Event

Young Ladies' Sodality members of St. Mary's church met in the church hall Friday evening with Prefect Mary Vallely presiding.

There Has To Be "Know-How" In Addition To A "Will-Do"
Just wanting to get things done isn't enough—there has to be some "know-how" in back of any movement or campaign if real success is to be achieved. That's the answer to Lawrence County's magnificent achievement in the second war loan.
Lawrence County always has the "will-do" spirit in war activities. It always had. But here in Lawrence County we have folks with the 'know-how," the ability to organize and direct such a campaign to a successful conclusion.
It is the same thing in the motor truck industry. No matter how much "will-do" spirit there is in the matter of moving freight there has to be a "know-how" and the Pennsylvania Motor Truck Association is composed of men and women who know how to get your freight over the road quickly and safely. It is always safe to "Ship By Truck."

Brown Appeals To American People

Price Administrator Says That Cost Of Living Must Be Rolled Back

By PHILLIPS J. PECK
(U. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, May 1—The explosive coal-wage crisis today formed the background for an appeal to the American people to support the government program and its pledge to "control and in many instances to roll back the cost of living and then to hold it".

Outlining a four-point program to extend price control "across the board," roll back prices which "have got out of hand", establish specific dollars-and-cents ceilings and exterminate black marketeers, Price Administrator Prentiss M. Brown declared:

"We can do the job and we shall do the job. There is no justification for breaking the stabilization program. Let the American people join us in holding the line.

"Stabilization is not easy. It is not easy for the people to live with. It is not easy for government. The government can do the job only if all the people are willing not only to accept stabilization but to support it."

Although addressed to the entire nation, Brown's appeal derived its inspiration and urgency from the demands of striking coal miners for a $2-a-day wage increase which, he said, cannot be granted because of its threat to the anti-inflation program.

Some Ethyl Gas Will Be Allowed

Some adjustment has been made in the ethyl gasoline situation, according to James Hinish, a distributor here. A few days ago the government announced there would be no more etyhl gas for motorists after the stations had sold what what they had in the tanks.

Today, Mr. Hinish said, a new order has come down from the petroleum co-ordinating authorities. The distributors are being allowed a portion of what they sold in April, approximately 50 per cent. This will mean a cut in all station supplies. The new order is effective for ten days. After that the ethyl gas may be cut off for motorists.

Shenango Township Schools All-Out In April Bond Drive

Students and teachers of Shenango township schools went all-out in the bond drive during April, buying stamps and bonds to the amount of $5,025, in maturity value, according to an announcement by the school chairman, Sara Gordon, today.

In a single day, Wednesday, April 28, Shenango Consolidated bought $1,079 worth of stamps and bonds. Miss Boozer's room led with a total of $318.

For the term to date, Shenango schools have bought a total of $12,662.20 worth of bonds. In the Castlewood schools, Mrs. Bishop's class is leading in stamp purchases.

An interesting fact about Shenango schools' war bond sales is that a survey of students in the township showed that most of their parents are ten per cent bond purchasers in our local industries. This influence, plus the example set by their teachers, who are consistent bond buyers, has resulted in their outstanding record for school cooperation in the war effort.

Woman Truck Driver Reports At Army Camp

(Special To The News)

GREENVILLE, May 1 — The first of a long line of women motor vehicle drivers has reported for duty at nearby Shenango Personnel Replacement Depot. First woman chauffeur to have the distinction of driving staff cars and light trucks is Mrs. Pearl Powell, wife of Mr. Richard Powell, 106 N. Water avenue Sharon.

In order to relieve soldiers for combat duty, many similar jobs at the Army post are being staffed with women. At the post office and quartermaster warehouse, jobs formerly occupied by men are being ably performed by women.

Although she is pioneering as woman truck driver at Shenango, Mrs. Powell has a 22 year record of safe driving without an accident.

Salvation Army Will Send Soldiers Letters

At the present time Capt. Carl Andreasen has over 1200 names on his mailing list to service men who he expects to send letters every week if possible and if this is not possible they will receive a letter at least every other week.

At the present time Captain Andreasen has been handicapped by not having enough typewriters to get his list up to date and ready for mailing but expects to have it done by next week. It will be necessary to have some volunteers to type addresses on envelopes and anyone wishing to help may contact the Salvation Army headquarters at 120 North Jefferson street or call 1882.

As this project is purely voluntary and not a part of the regular budget if any person or group of persons wish to contribute any money, it will be gratefully received and every cent will be used for the mailing of these letters, it is announced.

Miss Calabrese Enlists In WAVES

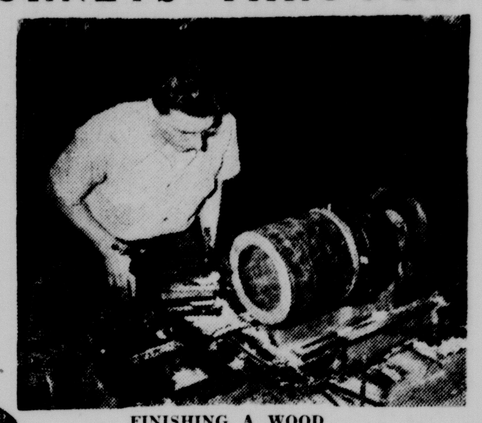

Miss Betty Viola Calabrese, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Angelo Calabrese, of 21 Sankey street, was enlisted in the WAVES Friday, April 30.

Miss Calabrese was enlisted and returned to her home to await orders for training at Hunter college in the near future, where she will be trained in some special branch to relieve a Navy man at a shore station for a more important job at sea with our Navy fighting force.

"Thousands of these young girls are needed to replace men now holding shore jobs. If you are between 20 and 36 years of age and have completed two years of high school, you are eligible to make application for enlistment," Navy Recruiter D. C. Ritchie says. "Let the government train you now for a good job after the war. You not only will be benefitting yourself but helping your country in its war effort against the Axis.

"Visit the Navy recruiting office today and get full information on this opportunity."

LITTLE JOURNEYS THROUGH JOHNSON BRONZE

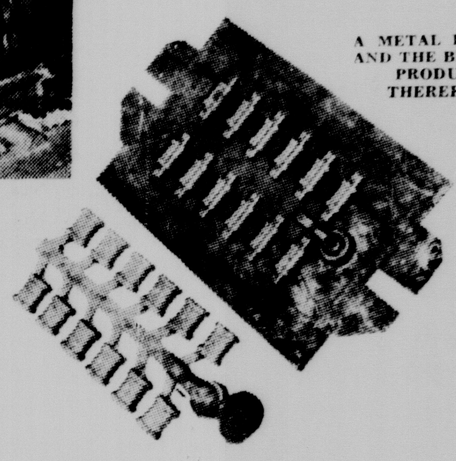

FINISHING A WOOD PATTERN

MOUNTING A METAL PATTERN ON A PLATE

A METAL PATTERN AND THE BEARINGS PRODUCED THEREFROM

The Pattern Shop

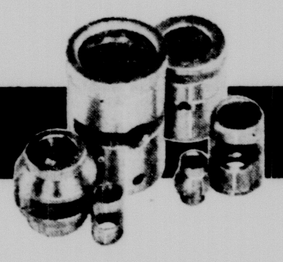

After man discovered that metal could be melted and formed into implements of war or necessities of home life . . . the act of Pattern Making began. Our primitive ancestors back in the Bronze Age probably didn't realize it . . . but it was one of of the first instances of mass production.

Pattern Making has come a long way since then. Today, it is a highly specialized profession . . . calling for unusual skill . . . patience . . . and a complete knowledge of foundry practice.

Johnson Bronze uses patterns made of wood or metal . . . depending on the type of job . . . the quantity involved . . . the method of casting. In making wood patterns, you start with the highest grade lumber available . . . thoroughly seasoned . . . free from knots or defects of any nature. The wood is cut into small pieces and laminated so the grain will provide the greatest strength. Finally, the built-up block is slowly, carefully turned . . . accurate to within 1-64 of an inch.

Metal patterns, usually mounted on plates are, in a sense, duplicates of the finished parts . . . made slightly larger to provide extra stock on the casting.

Our Pattern Shop is small in number of employees . . . compared to other departments . . . but it is one of the most important branches of our organization. The pattern is one of the first steps in the production of an order. Naturally, it must be correct in every detail . . . and accurate. Many of the employees in the Pattern Shop learned their trade in our organization. Practically all of them have records of long and faithful service to our company. Ask any one of them . . . and they will tell you that . . . Johnson Bronze is—"A good Industry for NEW CASTLE . . . A good place to WORK.

TREES ABOUT IN

With the exception of less than 2,000 trees, the 60,000 evergreens brought here by the Lawrence County Conservators are all planted on the old Lehigh Portland Cement Company property. The Boy Scouts, the Commandos, and a number of adults have co-operated in the planting and in a day or two the entire shipment of trees will be in.

For several years there will be little to see from the highway. In about five years there will be a green covering visible from the road and in ten years it will be a picture. It takes a little time, a little patience and a lot of hard work to plant 60,000 trees but some day, when some of the men who were interested in the planting have beards down around their ankles the people of Lawrence County will remember them as far sighted lads who prepared for future generations.

CLOCK STILL WRONG

This time the court house clock must have something really serious with it. Now and then it goes haywire but a little tinkering puts it back into shape. For weeks it has shown 8:45 as the time, which is right twice every twenty-four hours but does little good for the other hours of the day.

Many people are confused as to the exact meaning of the term "metaphor." It is a figure of speech in which instead of comparing (as in a simile) the qualities common to two objects, the qualities of the one are bodily transferred to the other. For example, "He was a lion in the fight" is a metaphor.

GIRL SCOUT LEADERS HAVE REGULAR MEETING

Girl Scout leaders and council members met at the Girl Scout office, Greer building, Friday evening for their April meeting.

An interesting discussion was held of ideas received while attending the Girl Scout Institute on April 16. This was led by Mrs. J. O. Huston.

Plans were underway for a tureen dinner, scheduled for the next meeting on May 27.

Derby Day's Big Event; Attendance Worries Majors

Count Fleet 3-5; Close To 75,000 Will See Classic

Race Starts Shortly After 5:30; Favorite Ranked As "Shoo-In"

WINNING HORSE'S PRIZE IS $61,725

By LAWTON CARVER
(International News Service Sports Editor)

CHURCHILL DOWNS, Louisville, Ky., May 1.—Celebrating the great holiday of the horse country, a jubilant, milling crowd that seemed likely to grow into as many as 75,000 streamed into this historic race track today for the colorful pageantry and thrill of the Kentucky Derby headlined by Count Fleet, star of a field of 12.

Travel restrictions imposed by the ODT, including greatly curtailed transportation into Louisville and a mad scramble in reaching the track, only inconvenienced but did not deter the people down here in the hard boot sector. They arrived from miles around as usual to pack the bars and restaurants and trample on each other here at the Downs all unanimously wearied by the turmoil, almost unanimously sold on Count Fleet, but enthusiastic as ever.

Fleet Big Talk

As they arrived for the 69th running of this country's $75,000 racing classic there was little talk of anything except the so-called "big horse," Count Fleet, and scarcely anybody would even hint that he faced failure in this bid to establish himself among the two or three greatest racers ever to blaze over an American track.

Shortly after 5:30 p. m. they will get the answer, by then they will know whether his spectacular two-year-old record and his near-record performance in the recent Wood Memorial will stand up as mere additional highlights in his so far tremendous career. Some predicted that Whilaway's track record of 2:01 2-5 for this mile and a quarter set in 1941 would topple if Mrs. John D. Hertz pride is pressed.

He was fit and ready, as were virtually all the rest of the candidates except Ocean Wave, the probable second choice from the Calumet stables. His heel injury caused trainer Ben Jones to wait until today before making a definite decision on whether he will go. Without him the Derby would be without what apparently is its one touch of competition.

Fleet Price 3-5

With Count Fleet looked upon as a 3 to 5 shot, Ocean Wave was expected to be about 4 to 1, Blue Swords as third choice, if the wagering runs true to prospects. Other than that, if Burnt Cork should finish better than a badly beaten dead last it would be almost as much of an upset as a Count Fleet defeat. He will be ridden by Johnny Longden—most envied jockey in the world for the time being.

The winning horse will earn $61,725. Second place is worth $8,000; third place $3,000 and fourth $1,000. Jockeys get the usual percentage of whatever they win.

WANTS PHOTO

GREAT LAKES, Ill.—Lieut. Paul D. Hinkle, who coached the Great Lakes Naval Training Station football and basketball teams to national service championships, frequently receives requests for photographs and autographs from followers of the Bluejackets squads. One of the most recent requests came from Lawrence L. Dog, Indian follower of the Sailors' quintet during the 1942-1943 season, who lives on the Rosebud reservation in Mission, South Dakota.

LOYOLA GETS DATE

Loyola of Los Angeles will get a place on the Southern California football schedule due to the fact the Trojans had to cancel games with Notre Dame and Tulane.

GOLF COURSE BEING BUILT AT SHERIDAN

Expect To Start Play By July 4; Funds Raised During World War I

(International News Service)

FORT SHERIDAN, Ill., May 1—A nine-hole golf course, the gift of Mrs. B. J. Rosenthal, of Chicago, is being built at Fort Sheridan.

During World War 1, Mrs. Rosenthal's daughter, now Mrs. George C. Moseley, of Highland Park, Ill., helped raise $50,000 for the Red Cross giving golfing exhibitions in a foursome with 17-year-old Bobby Jones, Perry Adair, southern champion, and Elexa Sterling, United States titlist.

Mrs. Rosenthal's daughter was three times Western Champion and formerly North-South titleholder. Mrs. Rosenthal, wife of the late Chicago philanthropist, has also provided all the rugs and drapes at the Service Club and cafeteria, a moving picture projector and equipment for other rooms on the post.

The golf course is being designed and built by Edward B. Dearier, Jr., one of the most prominent turf and design experts in the midwest. Play on the course is expected to start July 4.

Pittsburgh Sells Wasdell To Phils

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, May 1 — Jimmy Wasdell, 28-year-old outfielder-first baseman, was scheduled to cover first sack for the Phils today, following his cash purchase from the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Wasdell, who has also played with the Senators and Dodgers, will be at first until the return of Babe Dalghren, when he will be shifted to shortstop.

In 122 games with the Bucs last season, Jimmy batted .259.

MICHIGAN STATE KEEPS POLO GAME

(International News Service)

EAST LANSING, Mich. May 1.—Polo remains on the intercollegiate athletic calendar at Michigan State College. Major Gerald Peterson, U. S. A., says his team will play Ohio State College in an outdoro match, and the members of the team will also compete in jumping exhibitions scheduled for some date in May.

DELAY PLANS

Sports Ramblings

Derby Day Juleps:—(Without sprigs of mint).

"Hank" Faller, the west side twirler stationed in Trinidad, hasn't parted with any of his effectiveness since joining Uncle Sam's team. Len Gilbert, Faller's brother-in-law, discloses that "Hank," a member of the Raiders' nine of the Eastern League, won four out of six, as of last week. . . . Johnny Loccisano, Ellwood City's fisticuffs entrepreneur, is cooking up a show for Tuesday, May 18, in Shelby auditorium. Proceeds will be turned over to one of the charitable organizations. . . .

While it isn't generally known, it's a fact that Art Mittler, local representative of a big magazine distributing firm, was quite a baseball prospect in the mid-20's. While patroling the outfield for Muskegon of the Michigan State loop, Art, one of the staunchest sports followers in the city, struck up lasting friendships with such famous names as "Kiki" Cuyler and Freddy Fitzsimmons, only to mention a couple of star figures.

Pfc. "Lindy" Lauro, who broke Paul Brown's heart in 1937 when he tossed the pass that brought New Castle a 7-0 grid victory over Massillon, is in the B-24 Liberator mechanics' school at Keesler Field. . . . There's a possibility that Angelo "Dykes" Monsey, New Castle Field club professional for about a decade, may continue his tutoring at Sylvan Heights, after serving his daily hitch in a local defense plant. . . .

Short and sweet:—Army may try the T formation come next football season, Lieut. Earl Blaik, coach, announces. . . By now is there any doubt that the Yankees will not win the American League championship? . . . Gene Schott, ex-Cincinnati flinger is with the Air Corps in British Guiana. . . . Last season 101 homers were blasted in Yankee stadium. If the five cent rocket isn't tossed out the Manhattan park won't yield half that number this year. . . .

Don't know how true it is but there's a Philly story to the effect that Owner Cox, of the Phillies, is looking around for a few investors. What so early? He hardly knows the team personnel. . . . The other day, by the way, two Phils singled and doubled—in succession. The result: A double play. Stewart hit the single and was caught at home while Merrill May, the two-bagger man, was cut off trying to reach third. Now, do you blame Cox? . . . Got a couple of loose sheets. So I'm off to chunk 'em down on Count Fleet. . . . So long. . . .

"SUGAR" ROBBY WINS BY KAYO

(International News Service)

BOSTON, May 1.—Pvt. Ray "Sugar" Robinson was en route to his army camp today after taking two minutes and 20 seconds to puncture the welterweight title ambitions of Freddie Cabral of Cambridge.

A left hook to the throat followed by a right to the jaw gave the former Harlem boy his one-round knockout.

Fourteen Crews In Fast Regatta

Harvard Oarsmen Seek To Protect Three-Year Mark; Event Today

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, May 1 —Harvard's oarsmen will be out to protect their three-year-reign as the east's leading collegiate crew today, when they meet Cornell, Navy and the University of Pennsylvania in the sixteenth Adams Cup Race on the Schuylkill river.

Fourteen crews, including varsity, junior varsity, freshmen and 150-pounders, will compete in the regatta. All four races will be held over the Henley course of a mile and five-sixteenths.

Phelps, Bauers On Retired List

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, May 1.—Catcher Babe Phelps and Pitcher Russell Bauers have been placed on organized baseball's ineligible list, the Pittsburgh ball club reported today. The Bucco management also announced outright sale of Outfielder Jimmy Wasdell to the Phils for an undisclosed sum.

Phelps and Bauers were placed on the ineligible list because of their desire to remain out of baseball this year, and because of the uncertainty of their future. The club said that if either is drafted or stays permanently in his defense job, he will be transferred to the national defense list or the voluntarily retired list.

Baseball law requires disposition of all players within 10 days after the season opens.

State's Spartans Mostly Freshmen

(International News Service)

EAST LANSING—It is not difficult to detect the trend of the times in the ranks of intercollegiate athletic teams at Michigan State college.

More than half of the 121 men reporting to coaches in four sports this spring are freshmen. Athletic Director Ralph H. Young in counting noses learned that two-thirds of the more than 400 athletes who reported for varsity and freshman teams during the winter terms have answered the call to arms. Approximately 2,000 men students left the campus for the armed forces at the close of the winter term.

The Spartan baseball squad is dominated by freshmen, although the lineup promises to have a preponderance of veterans.

Lawrence Indies Practice Sunday

Manager George "Hoss" Zidow today announced that the Lawrence Indies will hold their first meeting and practice on Sunday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock on Cedar street grounds.

All former players and players interested in trying out are asked to report. Sheep Hill and Mahoningtown performers are asked to note.

Jockey Shortage Confronts Racing

Draft Law Draining Personnel; About 100 Riders Now In Armed Forces

TOTAL MEMBERSHIP REACHES 450 MARK

By DAVIS J. WALSH
International News Service Sports Writer

CHICAGO, May 1.—There was nothing indefinite about the statements Johnny Swisher, executive secretary and general manager of the Jockeys' Community Fund and Guild, was making last night in connection with the immediate future of horse racing in America. At least, as applied to the men who do the riding.

They're being knocked off very fast by the selective service act; much faster than most of us have suspected. Much too fast, in fact, for racing to long survive the drain on its personnel, since jockeys and exercise boys are equally vulnerable. And so are those in the age-class who might ordinarily be available for replacements.

Man-Supply Thinning

Quite apparently, the jockey man-supply will just about spread itself through the summer season. After that?

"After that," said Johnny Swisher, solemnly and slowly, "we hold our breath and count ten."

Total membership (including all men who were licensed as race riders a year ago)—about 450.

Those now in the armed forces—about 100.

Those now awaiting call—about 60.

Total replacements to date—25.

If all, or any appreciable part, of those 60 are absorbed by America's military machine in the months to come, the riding situation at the various horse tracks will become very haggard, indeed. And it's worn down to a thin minimum already.

Riders Limited

There are, for instance, only 26 riders at Sportsman's Park in Chicago at the moment that this is written. There were only 27 at Pimlico in Maryland, up to and including last week. In normal circumstances, there might be as many as 60 at a big track like that.

But even before others begin to follow Basil James, Irving Anderson, the two Hanford boys, Ralph Neves, Walter Lee Taylor, etc., into uniform, big tracks this summer will be getting along with as few as 35 and not more than 40 jockeys to ride all the horses quartered in the barns.

BUCS' STEWART QUITS BASEBALL

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, May 1.—Outfielder Eddie Stewart today became the Fifth Pittsburgh Pirate player to give up baseball for the duration in order to work in a war plant.

President William E. Benswanger announced he had received a letter from Stewart in which the player asked to be placed on the voluntary retired list because he wished to remain at his job in a Los Angeles airplane factory. Stewart didn't report for spring training.

Shortstop Alf Anderson, catcher Babe Phelps and Pitchers Aldon Wilkie and Russ Bauers are the others Bucs who have war jobs.

Mildred Dewberry In Bowling Tourney

Mildred Dewberry, the New Castle bowler who won the National Rubber Band Duckpin tourney championship last year, defends her crown in Pittsburgh tomorrow.

DOING ALL RIGHT

SOUTH BEND Ind. — Notre Dame golf team, coached by the Rev. George Holderith, C. S. C., has had only one season since 1933 when team losses outweighed victories. Since that year, Notre Dame golfers have won 69 meets, lost 15 and tied 3.

DiMAG FINALLY BELTS HOME RUN

(International News Service)

RIVERSIDE, Cal., May 1.—The first home run since he joined Uncle Sam's forces was chalked up for Joe DiMaggio today.

Jolting Joe's first circuit clout of the season with the Santa Ana air base team came with two mates aboard and helped his outfit to a 18-8 triumph over the March Field aggregation.

FRITZIE SCORES DOUBLE KNOCKOUT

Commission Secretary Persuades Zivic To Re-enter Ring After Second

(International News Service)

MILWAUKEE, May 1.—Fritzie Zivic, former welterweight champion, today held the unusual distinction of knocking out his opponent twice in one fight.

Johnny Roszina of Milwaukee, Zivic's adversary, was the victim of Zivic's punches before a crowd of 3,500 last night.

Zivic first knocked out Roszina in the second round when he unleashed a vicious left hook. When the count reached ten, Roszina was on one knee with five seconds of that round remaining.

Zivic was set to leave the ring with a two-round KO to his credit, when Fred Saddy, secretary of the state boxing commission, stepped into the ring and persuaded him to continue the fight.

After receiving a terrific pummeling in the eighth round, Roszina refused to come out for the ninth, claiming he was unable to see. Zivic was then awarded a technical knockout in the eighth round.

Fonseca Touring Camps With Pix

Will Show Baseball Pictures Covering Majors Since Back In 1934

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, May 1.—Signalizing the first step in the formation of an American League baseball instruction laboratory or library by use of motion pictures, Lou Fonseca has left for a month's tour of army camps in Kentucky and Indiana on a program which will inaugurate a new coaching plan for numerous service teams.

Fonseca, league promotional director and producer of the circuit's motion pictures, has been busy for several weeks in putting together a special film cut from more than 500,000 feet of celluloid of the pictures produced since 1934.

Picks Sequences

He picked out sequences on pitching, batting and infield play, and these will be run in slow motion in classes to be held especially for service baseball teams and their managers.

"It is the first step in a plan to ultimately form an American League technical instruction library for high school and college coaches, authorized semi-pro teams, the major and minor leagues, and, most of all, for the score of army and navy clubs which will be in action this summer," Fonseca said.

SHORT SPORTS

THREE TRY

URBANA, Ill.—Andy Phillip, Gene Vance and Ed (Ace) Parker of the championship University of Illinois basketball team, are trying out for the Illini baseball team.

Phillip, who won a letter as an outfielder but pitched briefly, is likely to see more action as a pitcher. Vance, a squadman last season, is also an outfielder. Parker, sixth man on the basketball team, was regular first baseman last season and made only one error all season, accepting 167 chances in 18 games.

GRID TO DIAMOND

SOUTH BEND, Ind.—The first and second string quarterbacks on Coach Frank Leahy's 1942 Notre Dame football team are candidates for the 1943 Irish baseball team. Angelo Bertelli, star passer of last fall's machine, is one of the leading candidates for an outfield berth, while his understudy, John Creevey, is being depended upon for some first-class pitching during the abbreviated schedule.

REAL STONE

CINCINNATI—Rocky Stone, Cincinnati recruit, pitched five games in three days for the Ogden, Utah, club. He won his first, third and last.

Magnets Uneasy As Fans Ignore Big Loop Parks

Maybe (Moguls Hope) It's The Weather; Heavy Financial Sock Suffered

LEONARD TAMES N. Y. YANKS, 2-1

By JOHN CASHMAN
(International News Service Sports Writer)

NEW YORK, May 1—Major league baseball magnates, whose disgruntled voices echo hollowly in deserted, tomb-like ballyards all over the nation, are becoming genuinely worried over the attendance, or lack of it, that is driving the national pastime toward the financial rocks.

From the day baseball opened in damp and dismal weather, the attendance graphs of 1943 as compared with those of 1942 have been in a steep and dangerous dive. There is something insidious in the cold, hard figures on the first two Cincinnati Reds-St. Louis Cardinals games, for instance, in which the attendance dropped from 27,709 in the opener to a shockingly meager 1,879.

Crowds Way Down

In 1942, 192,075 saw first-day games; this year only 82,209. When the Dodgers played the Giants at the Polo Grounds last season, 42,653 attended; this year the vast expanse of seating space was utilized by a sprinkling of only 16,775. A crowd of 30,308 saw the New York Yankees 1942 opener; in 1943, the immense reaches of the Stadium resounded to the occasional cheers of a huddled knot counting 5,860.

About 160,000 fans were expected to attend the openers this season. It took four days for baseball to slog through mud, postponements, dead ball diatribes and discouraging evidences of sloppy playing, and reach that figure.

The magnates say it's the weather. Those who point to the staggering figures on race track attendance in efforts to popularize horse-playing as the nation's accepted wartime sport, are slapped right back with the reminder that, whereas a horse-player will brave the cruellest weather, the baseball fan likes to sit in comfort. The old Guttenberg track on the icy stretches of New Jersey drew big crowds in the dead of winter. But no baseball fan, even the most rabid, will risk pneumonia.

Pleas Being Heard

Pleas are beginning to be heard, imploring the entire baseball empire to wait until May and its promise of warmer, sunnier weather, before condemning baseball as a wartime sport. But the fans are staying away by the thousands, and creating an almost insurmountable financial barrier over which the magnets must hurdle in order to break even for 1943.

All the wrangling, indecision, demands for action and breathless expectancy with which baseball was injected into the national picture might be just so much energy wasted. Baseball, the experts are beginning to believe, could fold by mid-July, victim to a clot in the vital, throbbing bloodstream of paid attendance. The most powerful single factor in the crash of attendance figures is the draft, which knifed out the core of fandom—young men.

In the meantime, baseball is doing its best. And nobody could do

Legion Of Honor Has Fine Party

GAACS And A Capella Choir Of High School Furnish Splendid Program

Members of the Legion of Honor of the Valley of New Castle Consistory and their families enjoyed a splendid program of entertainment in connection with their family night party, in the Cathedral Friday evening. The event was opened with a tureen dinner, with the program following.

The GAACS of senior high school, who have been practicing military drill formations for some time, made their first appearance before these war veterans and their families and received continued applause for their military perfection. The girls presented Miss Margaret Fischer, their faculty instructor, with an orchid.

Miss Fischer gave much of the credit for the fine appearance the girls made for the assistance given them by Capt. Lester W. McClelland of the Pennsylvania Reserve Defense Corps, and Sgt. Michael Shea, local Marine recruiter.

The A Capella choir, directed by Robert A. Duff, presented a group of musical numbers in their characteristic fine style, and also received a round of applause.

Ralph . Montgomery, past commander, was chairman of the arrangements for the evening.

Governor Signs Seven Measures

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, May 1—Sale of oleomargarine to the state's charitable and penal institutions was authorized today following the approval of a legislative enactment by Gov. Edward Martin.

The measure, sponsored by Reps. Glenn W. Ely (R) Susquehanna and Furman H. Gyger (R) Chester, also permits the sale of imitation butter to institutions for two years.

The governor also signed six other measures to increase jurors' pay from $3 to $4 a day; provide funds for post-war projects by political subdivisions; create district superintendent offices in school districts which do not have any; authorize the refund of money erroneously paid to the state by former county treasurers for hunting license fees; further regulate the method of approving amendments to articles of incorporation of nonprofit corporations; and authorize the state to invest in short term federal securities.

much better than the Washington Senators' big Bob Johnson, who broke up his second straight ball game yesterday with a tenth-inning single to lead his teammates to a 2 to 1 victory over the New York Yankees in the only game of the day.

Ellis Clary, who doubled earlier in the frame, came in under Johnson's bingle with the winning run. Dutch Leonard, who was credited with the win, allowed only four hits.

FROM ME TO YOU

By MESEEALL

When Lawrence County citizens decide to do anything, they get out and do it. This second War Loan Drive is an example of how people will dig down and do a job that needs to be done. Many hours were devoted by volunteer workers to the War Loan Campaign . . . take for example Dave Reese from up the east side way. . . . He works all day going around from store to store . . . lots of walking but yet he found time in the evenings to sell over 29,000 dollars worth of War Bonds. He gave up some social engagements no doubt to accomplish that figure. . . . But what are the boys giving on the battlefront? They are giving up social engagements are they not? Can you Mr. and Mrs. Citizens say honestly to yourself that you are doing all you can to help bring those boys back home . . . a day sooner? Be honest with yourself . . . you must live with your conscience after the war is over.

The U. S. O. Reception Center has been rather busy since its opening on Thursday evening. . . . Boys from all over the United States will pass through the portals of this center . . . it's up to the citizens of the community to show them a friendly hand. . . . If you wish to assist at the Reception Center . . .make application in person . . . not by phone, please.

* * *

Down in a certain southern city (not in Georgia), some of the residents have been awakened early in the morning by singing. None too melodious at times, the voices came from Army Air Corps members as they marched through the streets. Disturbed, several citizens wrote letters of complaint to Colonel Ralph M. Parker, commanding officer. . . . Would he please ask the boys to be more quiet? His answer is a classic that should rate high in the literature of World War II . . . and here is what the colonel said:

"My Dear Neighbors:

I have your several letters of recent date requesting the elimination of the soldiers' singing in the early morning hours and hope that you will accept my answer in the spirit in which it is written.

THE SINGING WILL CONTINUE!

Moreover, please arise at the first sound of military activity each morning and get down on your knees with all the members of your household who are disturbed thereby and offer thanks to Almighty God, with me and the rest of us, that those are Americans singing American songs for you and me and not Germans or Japanese singing vile victory songs in American streets!

Will you do this? Yes? That's swell! Many thanks. Please believe me. Very Sincerely and

Faithfully yours,
Ralph M. Parker,
Colonel, Army Air Corps,
Commanding.

STOCK MARKET DEVELOPS RALLY

Trend In Market Is Upward After Hesitant Start Today

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, May 1.—The stock market rallied today after a hesitant start, as President Roosevelt announced he would address the nation tomorrow night on the critical coal situation.

Gains ran to more than a point in some leaders, and several representative stocks reached new highs for the year and longer. Steel shares were prominent on the rise. Bethlehem and U. S. climbing more than a point. Similar gains were registered by American Telephone and American Car & Foundry, each at new 1943 peaks; Twentieth Century-Fox and Allied Chemical.

Paramount and Warner Bros. in an active amusement group; International Telephone, United Aircraft, Standard Oil of N. J., Standard Oil of California, Celanese and Studebaker all reached new high ground.

Elsewhere fair-sized gains were the rule, except for a few scattered issues.

Commodities displayed a firm tone.

Bonds improved with stocks, after a sluggish opening. Rails were down fractions at the start, but turned upward in the second hour.

Discusses Size Of Armed Forces

Military Analyst Points Out Basis For Size Of American Forces

(EDITOR'S NOTE:—The size of our armed forces and armaments is discussed in the following article by Major Paul C. Raborg, noted military analyst and author of "Mechanized might.")

By MAJOR PAUL C. RABORG
Written Especially For International News Service

NEW YORK, May 1.—Lieutenant General Brehon D. Somervell, chief of the army services of supply, stated to the United States chamber of commerce that Hitler would like to turn us from our present course and added "if we do turn we'll fail. If we continue the way we are going the end will be victory."

The army supply chief said "so far our strategy has been effective. After the initial defeats, when we had few men and little material in the field, our lines stiffened. Remember that a year ago we were on the run. Six months ago we were standing our ground on the defensive. Today the tables are turned. We're on the offensive. We'll keep on that way. It is all in the grand strategic plan. It was worked out with our Allies and they and we know where we're going. Hitler would like nothing better than for clamor, uninformed, no matter how genuine, to turn us from our course."

True Summation

The preceding two paragraphs are a true summation of our amazing war success to date. All these remarks were made by General Somervell because of some agitation to the effect that we were overproducing the materials of war. That these war supplies and weapons were backed up in huge quantities in this country, and were not or could not be shipped to the far corners of the earth by the "arsenal of democracy." In other words, that an over-supply had been created.

This clamor as to over-supply of equipment is exactly the same as the agitation of a short time ago to the effect that the armed forces, which the United States proposed to put into existence, were far greater than military needs demanded.

There is only one answer to the size of our armed forces and our armaments. They've got to be of a size that will make us safe in the event of any possible world occurrence, foreseen or unforeseen. And in war, unforeseen occurrences can happen by the minute, day, week or month. There is no living human who can state authoritatively what status the war may be in one year from today. But the wise general, while he aims at overwhelming victory, prepares for the worst. And this is also true of the wise business man. He aims at the greatest success, but if he is going to remain in business he likewise prepares for reverses.

Now all of this happens to be a military job. The armed forces of the United Nations have got to accomplish victory. Then they've got to stabilize and maintain peace. If the armed forces of the democracies are not effective, we will suffer defeat. At this time and in this day no effective substitute for armed forces can be created. Our fate rests in our supreme command and in the hands of our long trained professional officers of the army and navy. It is because of them that we are winning the war. To date they have proved their ability.

When you go to a doctor you don't tell him how to treat you. If you knew, you wouldn't go to him. Your armed forces of the United Nations are your doctor. They will win this war and that will cure you of your troubles. Let's have honest faith in their knowledge, their efficiency and their ability.

VICTORY GARDEN NOTES

(By LEWIS C. DAYTON)
(County Farm Agent)

SWEET CORN

Few vegetable crops are more generally in favor than fresh sweet corn, but since freshness is so important few persons other than home gardeners ever have good sweet corn to eat. Most people make the mistake of planting too little of this vegetable. Since a 100-foot row will produce only from 5 to 6 dozen ears and it requires one dozen ears for the equivalent of one quart of canned corn, considerable space can be devoted to growing this crop.

Any fertile soil should produce good crops of sweet corn. The first planting frequently is made early in May and then in order to have a succession of harvests from the time the first corn is harvested, other plantings may be made at intervals of 10 up to about July 1, or early, mid-season, and late varieties may be planted at the same time so as to spread the harvest over a longer period.

Fertilization is similar to that for field corn. Manure, supplemented with commercial fertilizer, is excellent. Best results with commercial fertilizer are obtained when part of the fertilizer is applied near the row. The fertilizer application given the rest of the garden will be satisfactory for this crop.

The new hybrid varieties of sweet corn are much to be preferred. Many people still use the old varieties because they do not realize how much improvement has been made in sweet corn varieties in recent years. If an early corn is desired, Spancross or Marcoss may be used. Carmelcross and Lincoln are two good midseason varieties, and Golden Cross Bantam one of the best later, though not real late, varieties.

(Clip and preserve for future reference).

Doughnuts, Pianos, Other Suppies In Red Cross Shipment

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 1.—Doughnut flour and shortening enough to make a million and a half doughnuts for American servicemen in North Africa are part of a huge shipment of supplies that have been cleared from the United States, the Red Cross has disclosed.

Twenty portable pianos for Red Cross clubs and hospital recreation rooms in Tunisia were also in the shipment. Other items were two tons of chocolate bars, one ton of coffee, tons of shaving cream, razors and blades, besides games, table games and thousands of books and magazines.

To maintain supplies for the Red Cross clubmobiles now plying the roads of North Africa, the Red Cross expects to ship monthly 300 barrels of doughnut flour, 15,000 pounds of shortening and several tons of coffee.

In a shipment of supplies recently made to four posts in the south Pacific were included 51,000 packs of razor blades, 50,000 each of tubes of dental cream, toothbrushes, combs, shaving cream, sewing kits, packs chewing gum and chocolate bars, 25,000 towels and wash cloths, 100,000 bars of soap, 34,000 razors, 37,000 books, 600,000 cigarettes, 7,764 jigsaw puzzles.

BUS STRIKE ENDED

(International News Service)

McKEESPORT, Pa., May 1 — Yielding to the plea of war time patriotism from federal and state conciliators, Penn Transit company's striking bus drivers returned to work today after a flash walkout of less than 24 hours' duration.

The drivers, members of the AFL-Amalgamated Association of Street, and Electric Railway and Motor Coach Employes' Union, voted 58 to 22 to resume negotiations Monday morning. Their brief strike delayed thousands of war workers and other travelers through McKeesport, Leechburg, Greensburg and adjacent areas yesterday.

Rough Seas Wash Sailor Overboard Onto Second Ship

Unique Incident Happens On Two U. S. Destroyers During Heavy Storm

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, May 1.—Washed overboard from a destroyer by waves that "looked like three story buildings," Seaman John Andrew Urtchok, of New York City, nevertheless was alive today to tell how another wall of water threw him aboard a second warship 40 minutes later.

The unique incident was reported to the navy by the commanding officer of Urtchok's ship which was nearing home port in a heavy storm when the accident occurred.

According to the navy, Urtchok had just finished evening "chow" and was staggering across the rolling, pitching deck of the destroyer when he stopped to chat with a fellow seaman.

"Home tomorrow," Urtchok said.

"Maybe," replied his companion.

"What do you mean; what could happen?" Urtchok countered.

Just then a mountain of water hit the warship and Urtchok was washed overboard.

Three-Story Waves

"My first thought was that nobody saw me go over," Urtchok said later..."The waves looked like three-story buildings."

Meanwhile the "man overboard" alarm had been sounded and the warship swung sharply to keep within sight of the struggling seaman as night closed in. Another destroyer stood by.

Rough seas made maneuvering difficult and lowering a boat was out of question. On the first run past Urtchok, the destroyer was tossed high on the crest of a wave, but a life ring was tossed to him.

"Even with the life ring, I thought I wasn't gonna be home again ever," Urtchok said when it was all over.

Urtchok's destroyer came within rescuing distance on another run and its sister ship trained its searchlight on the seaman.

"The vessel apparently was going to fail in the rescue attempt," the navy said. "But, as the low stern came by him, Urtchok was lifted high by a wave, slammed on the fantail of the destroyer, and grasped and held securely by fellow seamen."
